There seem to be no possible apprehension that cholera will visit us this year, though cold weather is not to be relied upon as a defense. Ship fever which was quite prevalent in 1817 at that season, is as yet unobserved. Nevertheless, let no effort to keep the City clean be abaled.

WALL-St. CRITICISM .- The annexed extracts from "Thompson's Bank Note Reporter" show how Jenny Lind strikes the money changers in that soulless locality. A Bank Note Reporter may appear an odd field for a musical criticism, but after all being a ' counter/eit detector ' it may be considered as proper a touchstone for Jenny's notes as for that of a Bank. She is, it will be seen pronounced "genuine."

"LIND STOCK "Quoted.

JENNY HAS SUNG! and the question is momentarily asked, "What do you think of her?"

Now we are no musical critic, being far better versed in "shorts," "longs," "bears," "bulls," "lane docks," and such other Wall st. animals, toan in "cadenxas," "bravutas," "sforgatas," etc. yet we feel that in our own fashion we must answer the query.

Her "rectors" then yet we feel that in our own fashion we must answer the query.

Her "notes," then, we quote as undeniably "above par." The "issue," though not secured by "State Stocks," and are hithse perishable commodities, have yet, as discount clorks would say, "a good backer. She draws "ad libitum," on Nature, and from our brief "transactions" with her, we should doem her account there unlimited, and her drafts never habte to dishoner.

We have had the good fortune to hear most of the Opera performers who have been before our public, but Jenny is like none of them,—No, not a particle. She is emphatically "sai generis," not therefore not to be measured by comparison. She is not, as some farcy gravat penny a liners would have us believe, the "Quoen of Song,—for such a prefix would imply that she merely pre-lides over that which has been here. Over exactly but she is the producer or creator of her own commodity—a commodity of which there are not, and never has been any "samples," excepting her own in the market. Jenny appeals to the heart with freelestible power. Her "offerings" cannot be refused. One may but mup his cost, and fold his arms some she breast, faciledly secure in the papering of critical resorve, but at her licet notes, the the Opera performers who have been before ou perly of critical rezorve, but at her first notes, the frests of criticism disense, and ero the index on the dial on take too sport stops, the arms drouts, the cost is precent just over the beaut, and she has lations, is yet a mere mockery to the crehination executed by sweet Jenny. The "Nightingsle" is plorious, radiant, good, and the produce of an entire new "stock" in the "exchange" of song.— Barnom, in giving us Jenny, has proved himself a regular "brick"—not a 4 by 8 slack betted four dollar concern—but a smooth, 6 by 12 hard-horat, "facing" article, such as Tripler might well wish to put in the choicest "jam" or "coping" of the new Hall.

Waiton, who on Saturday last, anot his wife with a pistol, attempted to take his own life by obsoling the veins in both his arms with a posket knife, while in a cell in the City Prison on Sanday even ing. The blood flowed copiously from the self inflicted wounds and no doubt he would have bled to death in a short time, had he not been discoverto death in a short time, had he not been discovered by deputy keeper Jackson, who at the time of the discovery was in the act of placing another prisoner in the cell with Walton. As the person who was to occupy the cell with the desperate man was going in, he saw the suicidest laying in the corner of his cell weltering in his own blood, gasping for breath, and to all appearance nearly dead.
DE Swann was as lonce sent for and bound up the Dr. Sweny was at once sent for and bound up the wounds, and after several hours labor, partially restored his patient, who is still very weak and in a dangerous condition, having lost, as is supposed over a gallon of blood. But for the accidental discovery by Mr. Jackson the infatuated man would covery by Mr. Jackson the infatuated man would have accomplished [his horrid [design, and by so doing saved the authorities and his friends further trouble on his account. He expressed the determination yesterday morning to repeat the tragical act if he was not soon liberated from the Tombs and restored to his family and friends. The present condition and prospects of this partially delerius man may be attributed to the dissolate and excessively intemporate life he has lived for many years sively intemperate life he has lived for many years pest. He and his wife had long kept a disreputa ble house at 275 Water st. and have live unhappily together, hence the attempt by him to take his life

The Judge scolded some of the Jurors, during the em panelling, as usual, for saying they had read the papers and obtained a bias, and would not permit a Juror to be sworn although he afterward said he could make up his mind. after hearing the case, purely upon the testimony, without reference to what he had read. One Juror said he had formed an opinion from the fact that his carman had told him that he saw a woman dead in Ridge-81, and her husband arrested for her marder. On this account and no other he has formed an opinion against the husband. Thought he could give a verdict solely on the evidence. The Court, a little different from the former winners, said it has been held by the Suprime Court in the People vs. Howeman, that on a man delaring he can give a verdict, notwithstanding his opinion, upon the evidence, the triers must decide whether he appears to be a man sufficiently intelligent to have control over his own mind sufficient for the purpose or not.

The juror said he was not acquainted with the person of the husband, and has no personal bias against him. The Juror was a grocer, we boileve not at American.
